Event planners from agencies including BI Worldwide, First Choice, Crescent Associates and Pineapple Events donned pinstripes and pearls to check out what the UK capital had to offer.

Some 35 agents headed to the capital for vintage challenges in the annual London City Selection (LCS) fam weekend, which had a 1920s theme for its 2014 edition.

The weekend, which included 22 of the selection's venues, was packed with activities including Charleston dancing at St Bride Foundation and life-sized Cluedo at the Honourable Artillery Company, and ended with a gala dinner at Ironmongers' Hall. The winning team, the Swingin' Things, led by Fiona Macpherson from etc.venues, won the prize package offering dinner for two at the Gherkin, hotel stays at Apex City of London and The Montcalm, or dinner and tickets to a performance at the Barbican.

"The aim of the weekend is to improve agent knowledge of our venues in the city whilst having fun and experiencing our facilities first hand. We have had such a fantastic response from agents and the theme this year was a great choice," said LCS chair Diane Waldron.
